SHAMROCK DEFEATED

American Yacht Wins by About Eight Minutes

New York, Aug. 22.—At 9 k. the official gauge of the weather bureau at Sandy Hook showed wind blowing steadily from the south-west at eight miles an hour. There was every indication that a slight breeze and a squall would be able to complete the American cup course today within time limit. There is now a south-west breeze of eighteen knots an hour and weather is clear. There is a bit of a sea running with surf breaking fairly heavy along New Jersey coast.

New York, Aug. 22.—Shamrock III has reached the light ship under sail. Reliance is again in low about half way to starting line. Wind west by south-west, being about 12 knots.

10.13. Reliance has arrived at light ship, both boats having set sails. Excitement boats arriving. Shamrock III is again in low about half way to starting line. Wind west by south-west, being about 12 knots.

At 10.10 wind at Sandy Hook, according to weather bureau gauge was blowing at 17.7 miles an hour and increasing.

At 10.35 the regatta committee tug has hoisted a signal and is steaming away to east by south-east, which means to indicate the start of race will be two of three miles to eastward of lightship and that boats will be sent to a windward and leeward course with a second start down New Jersey coast.

New York, Aug. 22.—10.45. Shamrock has been temporarily postponed as committee has decided to wait line. The yachts are sailing about the lightship awaiting course signals and preparatory to gun. The wind is blowing fair breeze. Heavy sea running.

At 11.30. Committee has signalled course 15 miles to windward and run home. Wind southwest.

Bulletin 22. The warning gun was fired at 11.40. At 11.42 the light for position is hot, and interesting and fast is following every move of Shamrock and Reliance as he was getting the best of it.

Starting at 11.45 from shore to 11.45.20. Reliance 11.45.15. At 12.02 Shamrock leads but Reliance seems to be slowly but surely drawing up on her.

At 12.06. Race at this time is very close one. Shamrock is still leading although the Reliance is close behind.

12.11. Reliance has just come about on port tack and leading for Jersey shore.

12.18. Shamrock has come about on port tack.

12.17. Both boats sailing fast and in half an hour and apparently covered nearly five miles.

12.40. The Reliance had just reached starboard, while Shamrock still adds on the port tack.

12.45. Shamrock has just tacked to starboard right underneath Reliance's port bow. The race between the two boats is still very close.

12.46. Reliance is again pulling up to windward of Shamrock and cutting off the latter's wind.

12.50. The boats are even again, although the Shamrock is leading. Reliance is in better position to windward.

12.59. The marking turn has placed the turning mark three miles due east of shore of west end of long branch. Reliance passed Shamrock and is in windward position. At 1.15 it looks as though Reliance is leading by three-eighths of a mile.

1.19. Reliance is leading by nearly a quarter of a mile and is an eighth of a mile to windward. It looks as though the boats will make the mark on this tack.

1.25. During last ten minutes Reliance's gains have been continued and at now looks as if she were more than half a mile ahead.

1.45. Shamrock went about on port tack at 1.36, followed at 1.39 by Reliance. Reliance went over on the port tack at 1.53 p.m.

There is much to be said and rumors are being circulated, which, if only partly true, should receive the closest scrutiny. At the last meeting of the city council, Constable Dean, the oldest member of the force, was appointed chief of police. Before this the three constables were on equal footing. Immediately after the council meeting Constable Dean handed in his resignation, refusing to serve under the present chief of police. ## THE FIGHT WITH WEEDS

We read in Grecian mythology of a contest between Hercules and the giant Antaeus, son of mother earth, and famed for his strength and skill in wrestling. Although Hercules was able to throw his antagonist to the ground, from each fall Antaeus would rise from mother earth stronger than before. Hercules finally killed him by lifting him from the ground and squeezing him to death. The struggle on the farmer to free his fields from the domination of noxious weeds has been appropriately likened to that of the Greek myth. Everyone who is interested in agriculture knows well the great extent to which weeds exist in our cultivated lands. Hitherto our farmers have been about as successful in their fight against weeds as Hercules was in the earlier stages of his contest with Antaeus. They have been fighting away blindly, treating all kinds of weeds in the same way, with the result that some weeds are killed, some are merely kept in check, and some flourish and increase. If they are ever to be eradicated entirely, their habits of growth, their strong and weak points must be studied by the cultivators of the soil even as Hercules studied the weakness of his adversary.

During the last year or two a great deal has been done by the agricultural departments through the medium of newspapers, bulletins and agricultural meetings to disseminate information on this subject. The process of education, however, is necessarily slow, and it seems to be the general opinion of progressive farmers, as revealed by the farmers institute meetings all over the country, that a time has come when a herculean effort must be made to lift this giant of "weed domination" from the earth and destroy it. This is why the bill regarding the inspection and sale of seeds, recently introduced by the Hon. Sydney Fisher, was pronounced by Mr. Girard, of Chicoutimi and Saguenay, to be "the most important that has ever been submitted to parliament in the interest of farmers."

In explaining his bill to the committee of the whole, the Minister of Agriculture pointed out that extensive tests by the seed laboratory of his department had revealed a rather startling state of affairs in connection with the seed trade of the country. The investigations showed that in many instances, a large proportion of the seed sold would not grow; in other cases samples contained a large amount of dirt and other inert matter. This condition of affairs was bad enough, but it was comparatively unimportant in view of the fact that many of the samples of grass and clover seeds were found to be foul with the seeds of noxious weeds, which can only be eradicated from the soil by years of labor. One could well understand the uncalculable loss inflicted on the farmers of the country in that way. In other countries efforts had been made to protect the farmers from the results of the trade in bad or impure seeds. In England in 1874, in Switzerland and in other countries, attention had been directed to the matter, and various forms of legislation had been adopted. In some of the states of the Union, in Manitoba, and in the Northwest Territories the magnitude of the evil had been recognized, and efforts had been made to lessen it by legislation, but no general attempt had yet been made in Canada to grapple with the evil. The proposed bill, which required that seeds offered for sale be tested for purity and vitality, and graded according to quality, was the result of two years' careful study, and he did not think it would interfere with legitimate trade. However, he was desirous of having the details thrashed out in committee and was quite willing to accept such amendments as the House might deem desirable. In the course of the discussion member after member, Conservative as well as Liberal, spoke of the seriousness of the weed problem and expressed approval of the principle of the bill.

About five only objections to the principle of the bill were raised by one or two members who seemed to have no practical knowledge of agriculture and who failed to realize the gravity of the subject. The details of the proposed legislation came in for considerable criticism, which was to be expected in view of the fact that it is based upon the systems of seed control which have proved successful in other countries and with which few of the members appeared to be familiar. It was pointed out by Mr. Ross, (Ontario) that, as this year's crop of seed will be harvested, threshed, and in the market for sale at an early date, it would be impossible for the trade to offer seed such as the bill called for by the first of September, the date specified in the bill. The Minister of Agriculture and the committee generally agreed with this view, and concluded that it would not be advisable to bring the bill into operation until next year. A similar procedure was followed in the case of the Fruit Marks Act, the details of which were rather severely criticized on its introduction, but which time has shown to be of incalculable benefit to the fruit interests of Canada. Before the committee rose to report progress the Minister of Agriculture summed up the result of the debate in the following language:—"I think I accomplished what I had hoped for in the discussion. I have had the advantage of the opinion of the members of the House, which I asked for when I first introduced the bill in committee. I am sure that these opinions and the discussion which has arisen here will assist very much in the perfecting of this law. If its passage is delayed for another year, the discussions which have taken place this session will not be lost by any means. I trust that as a consequence of the discussion, the people who are interested in the seed trade, the farmers who purchase, the men who handle and the dealers who grade the seeds, will study the proposed law, and will give us the benefit of that study. And I trust that, as a result of all this, the law will be more perfect than it could otherwise have been made on a first attempt at legislation of this kind."

LEDCU

A visitor to Ledcu cannot help but be impressed with the signs of progress visible on every side. New and commodious residences and stores are being erected and present buildings renovated. The Waldorf hotel is having a large three story block built to it. This will give ample hotel accommodation. H. B. Hamber, jeweler, has erected a two-story frame block opposite the Waldorf hotel. The lower part of the building will be occupied by stores and the upper part by offices. S. E. Bolton, advocate, will have his offices in this block when completed. Dr. Sutherland is erecting a new drug store, the basement of which is already completed. Gutz and Clemens are erecting a furniture store, adjoining their hardware store. A large brick veneer block has been erected by Mr. Tynner, harness maker. Numerous other new buildings were noticed in different stages of construction. Ledcu is beautifully situated. The lake and surrounding groves make an ideal picnic place. The lake is growing up thickly with weeds, but there is a movement on foot at present to have these cleaned out and proper approaches laid through the swampy shores of the lake. This would give an added pleasure and convenience to pleasure seekers.
